Suit Demands Hoffa Repay Trial Expenses

6 Union Members File Action in District Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six members of the Teamsters Union have filed suit demanding that the union president, James R. Hoffa, and his top command repay the union money that Hoffa and other officials have used to defend themselves in criminal trials. The six rank-and-file Teamsters, in the U.S. District Court suit Friday, also asked that the court grant an injunction forbidding further payments of such legal expenses. Estimates of the money already spent are in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. It was another in a series of sharp blows to Hoffa's position as boss of the nation's biggest union.

Even as the suit was entered here, Hoffa was sitting in a Chicago courtroom on trial on charges of conspiring to defraud the union in a $20-million loan scheme. He also is appealing an eight-year jury tampering conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn. — all of which costs money and keeps him from supervising the day-to-day affairs of the Teamsters, which he has run with an iron hand. Some union sources have

Korean Reds Free 2 American Pilots

U. S. Receipt for Prisoners Admitted Pair on Spy Mission

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — pilots, were flown to Seoul, where doctors said they were in good condition. In Hospital They were to rest overnight in the U.S. Army hospital before questioning by intelligence officers. The pilots, who quickly changed from drab cotton Communist uniforms into U.S. Army khaki, were not permitted to talk to newsmen. In Seoul, the U.N. spokesman, U.S. Army Col. George Creel, explained the advance receipt and its admission of espionage in a statement. "UNC representatives were prepared to sign and did sign a receipt which, pursuant to KPA — Communist North Korean army — demands as a condition for the release of the pilots included a statement that the helicopter pilots committed espionage," the statement said. "Such an admission is, of course, meaningless. Assigned Mission "The two pilots were in uniform and engaged in an assigned military mission, specifically that of checking aircraft warning markers south of the DMZ — demilitarized zone — and, therefore, clearly were not engaged in espionage. "The record is clear, the facts have not changed, and anybody can read the true situation from the facts of the case." Col. Han Joo-kyung, the Communist Korean secretary, said the two fliers had signed a statement saying they were on a criminal mission when their

East Germans Launch Huge Youth Rally

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists launched a mammoth youth rally in East Berlin today, offering three days of entertainment including a concert by the secret police. Communist officials said they expected about 500,000 youngsters from throughout East Germany to show up. It is the first such rally since 1954, when hundreds used the opportunity to escape to the West. The Reds can feel fairly safe now. They built the Berlin Wall nearly three years ago and the chances of reaching the West are remote. 10,000 Guards About 10,000 guards, armed with submachine guns and aided by police dogs, normally guard the border around West Berlin. Western intelligence sources said they noted a slight increase in guards since Friday. Hundreds of special trains and buses carried youngsters to the city from scattered towns and villages. The meeting is sponsored by the Free German Youth Organization under the patronage of Walter Ulbricht, the Communist party boss. Ulbricht invited West German youngsters to come to East Berlin for the rally but there was no evidence that any appreciable number did so.

Red Premier At Aswan for Ceremonies

Khrushchev Looks Fit as He Gets Egyptian Cheers

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, looking fit despite reports that he is tired, returned from a Red Sea jaunt with President Gamal Abdel Nasser today for final ceremonies at the Aswan High Dam site. Cheers that have been ringing in the Soviet leader's ears since the start of his 17-day state tour one week ago, erupted again when he and Nasser, hands joined in the air, arrived at noon at the dam site. They had flown in Khrushchev's private airliner from the Red Sea port of Ras Banas after a day and a half cruise aboard the Egyptian presidential yacht Hourriya. Originally they were due back here Friday night. Steam Yacht With Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref and Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella, their touring companions, the Soviet and Egyptian leaders took a steam yacht at the Aswan dock to go to the dam site for the ceremony. Dump trucks laden with huge granite stones were standing on the shores to fill a final gap in the foundation of the dam across the Nile River. A few hours before Khrushchev returned, an Egyptian information officer in Aswan said Khrushchev was shortening his scheduled visit to ancient Luxor, Sunday because "he is tired."

With temperatures soaring above 100 degrees Khrushchev is changing his program to spend only two hours in Luxor on the Nile instead of most of the day. The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, a Cuban exile group in Washington, confirmed the landings Friday and said they were carried out as the attack on a sugar mill in Port Pilon diverted the attention of Cuban armed forces. Infiltration Move The committee said the landing was an infiltration move, part of a long-range plan to bolster internal guerrilla forces. A Spanish language broadcaster in Miami said there were landings on both the north and south coasts of Cuba. Ros sent a note to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant warning that peace might be endangered by Wednesday's sugar mill raid and by an arms cache found earlier off the Cuban coast. The note said the sugar mill attack was by a pirate ship "such as the CIA operates from bases in Florida, Puerto Rico and Central America." Illegal Flights "Using these illegal flights of U2 planes over the national territory of Cuba, the CIA obtains information about our military installations for the organization and carrying out of these vanguardistic attacks," the note continued.

Brazil Supports Venezuela for Cuban Isolation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil will support Venezuela's campaign to isolate Cuba from the rest of Latin America, says President Humberto Castello Branco. In his first news conference since he took office after the ouster of leftist President Joao Goulart on April 1, Castello Branco said he had carefully studied a report by the Organization of American States charging Cuba with aggression against Venezuela. He said he would join Venezuela before the OAS in seeking a collective break in diplomatic relations and an economic embargo against Cuba. The new Brazilian government broke off relations with the Castro regime on Wednesday, accusing it of subversion in Brazil. The meeting is sponsored by the Free German Youth Organization under the patronage of Walter Ulbricht, the Communist party boss. Ulbricht invited West German youngsters to come to East Berlin for the rally but there was no evidence that any appreciable number did so.

Kaukauna Flier's Release Is Promised Soon by Pathet Lao

Mixed Emotions on Information By Family of Eugene DeBruin

Eugene DeBruin, 30, rural Kaukauna flier held prisoner by pro-communist Pathet Lao troops since being shot down over Laos Sept. 5, will be released soon.

The announcement was made Friday by Prince Souphanouvong, Pathet Lao leader, according to Associated Press dispatches.

DeBruin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeBruin, route 3, Kaukauna, received first word of the announcement from the Post-Crescent at 9:50 a.m. today.

Seem Skeptical

Both Mr. and Mrs. DeBruin received the news with apparent joy and some skepticism. Mrs. DeBruin said, "Is that good news? We had our hopes so high..." She choked up and was unable to say any more. DeBruin said, "I don't know what to say. God, I hope they get him out of there. We've had good news so often that didn't come true — I hope it comes true this time. This is the first time it's come from the other side (Pathet Lao). I've had a hunch this would happen since the first of May."

No Release Date

The Pathet Lao gave no definite release date for DeBruin and the four Asian crewmen surviving the shooting, but Souphanouvong hinted it would be in the near future.

"I understand Air America will leave Laos soon, therefore they also will leave," Souphanouvong was quoted as saying by the AP. The Pathet Lao earlier had said it would not release the fliers until Air America, the private chartered airline for which they were dropping supplies, suspended Laotian operations. Air America has ended operations and is in the process of leaving Laos. DeBruin's plane, chartered by the Vietnamese government, was shot down while dropping supplies to pro-rightist troops. Of a crew of seven, DeBruin, single, and the four Asians survived. Two other Americans were killed.

Conflicting Reports

The Kaukauna flier's parents have been receiving conflicting reports and often delayed cooperation since the shooting. On one occasion, a merchant reported DeBruin in good condition and being treated well after seeing him in a prison compound.

A few months later, an Asian soldier escaped from the same compound reported DeBruin and the other four crewmen were crammed into small huts, tied to poles and being treated poorly.

Lack of information and cooperation from the State Department brought the elder DeBruin to the Post-Crescent in March to seek Associated Press aid in learning of their son.

Cuba Landing Reports Heard

Minister Complains To U.N. That CIA Supporting Attacks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Reports of two additional anti-Castro landings circulated today amid a complaint to the United Nations from Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency — CIA — was behind it all.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, a Cuban exile group in Washington, confirmed the landings Friday and said they were carried out as the attack on a sugar mill in Port Pilon diverted the attention of Cuban armed forces.

Infiltration Move

The committee said the landing was an infiltration move, part of a long-range plan to bolster internal guerrilla forces. A Spanish language broadcaster in Miami said there were landings on both the north and south coasts of Cuba.

Roa sent a note to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant warning that peace might be endangered by Wednesday's sugar mill raid and by an arms cache found earlier off the Cuban coast.

The note said the sugar mill attack was by a pirate ship "such as the CIA operates from bases in Florida, Puerto Rico and Central America."

Illegal Flights

"Using these illegal flights of U2 planes over the national territory of Cuba, the CIA obtains information about our military installations for the organization and carrying out of these vanguardistic attacks," the note continued.

Thwarted in Rape Attempt, Man Tosses Child From Building

NEW YORK (AP) — A would-be rapist, his attack on a 9-year-old Brooklyn girl thwarted, snatched her infant brother from his crib Friday night and hurled him to his death from the roof of a four-story building, police reported.

They said that while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julio Sanchez, were visiting next door, a young Negro entered the apartment through an unlocked door and tried to assault Sandra Sanchez.

The girl screamed and, she said, the intruder picked up her brother, Anthony, 11 months, and ran to the roof. The child's body was found in a rear courtyard. The man escaped.

Denver to Deadwood

Maintenance of Calloused Posterior Essential to Riding of Stagecoaches

BY GORDON HANSON
Rapid City (S.D.) Journal
LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Every body should take a stagecoach trip—once.

This writer is in the midst of a 450-mile trip from Denver to Deadwood, S.D., with a cargo of 18,000 silver dollars. The journey is in observance of South Dakota's 70th anniversary of statehood.

Sometimes I ride "shotgun" on the coach. Most of the time I bounce from one end of the saddle to the other while atop a homestead horse, and lots of times I just get down and walk. If my bounces had been straightened out, I'd be in Deadwood by now.

There's absolutely nothing on this crusty old planet that can compare with stagecoaching. I have a new respect for the old-timers who had no transportation other than springless stages and still-sacked steeds. To maintain the calloused posterior so necessary to withstand the impact of seat on saddle, they probably slid down old coal chutes on their days off.

Now I know why cowboys always stand up at the bar when having a shot of red-eye; they've lost the feel of things. They could unknowingly slide off a stool, drop three feet to the floor, and never realize the jolt was physical, not internal.

To take a writer—who's so out of shape he puffs while shampooing—and put him on a 34-day journey such as this is almost as bad as being with Custer when he had all that trouble.

Riding on the stagecoach isn't too bad, if you don't mind looking at horses' tails all day long. Being battered to a frazzle—mile after mile—by that saddle is another story.

Here's a tip: When the trip first started, my horse trotted almost all day long. One of the men asked me how I liked the saddle, and I told him I hadn't been in it long enough to find out.

After 200 miles on the trail, it's beginning to look like I never will have a good relationship with that saddle, which is borrowed. But I'm beginning to form some opinions about the horse.

Then there is the food. Cooking along the trail comes in three categories: Snacks, square meal and bellyache. Our cook is a good man with a skillet, but burning the meat the way I like it is culinary sin with him. The best he'll do with a beefsteak is restore the body heat.

Special Biscuits For his special biscuits, I suspect he takes a pound of flour, adds enough water to settle the dust, then bakes it for two hours before putting in a horseshoe. If the horseshoe sinks, it isn't ready.

The handiest remedy for his cooking is salty remarks. It's the nights, sleeping in the open, that really thrill you.

Beneath my bedroll I have an air mattress with a slow leak. Over a matter of hours, the mattress slowly deflates, and when you get the hint of cactus, it's time to get up.

You're all set for another day as soon as you shake the mice from your boots, because the apparel you have on serves also as pajamas, working clothes, dress clothes and B.O. barometer.

Along that line: When deep water is found out on the dusty trail, you walk right in standing straight up. That way you can bathe, wash your clothes and have a drink, all at the same time.

An adventure of this kind is like being in the Army. I'm glad I did it, but no thanks for seconds.

More Hearings On Wausau TV Construction

Company Asks Permit to Be Assigned To Mid-Continent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another round of arguments has been heard by the Federal Communications Commission on an application by Central Wisconsin Television, Inc., for additional time to build a Channel 9 station at Wausau, Wis.
Also under consideration by the FCC is a request by Central Wisconsin to assign its construction permit to Midcontinent Broadcasting Co. for $34,439. After the latest hearings Friday, the commission said the questions would be taken under consideration.
Ernest Nahu, counsel for the FCC's Broadcast Bureau, who has opposed granting the applications, said that for several months after the construction permit was awarded to Central Wisconsin on Sept. 8, 1961, the company "did not do one thing toward construction of a TV station."
He said the firm "went around with its construction permit and peddled it, and how they peddled it."
A similar assertion was made by Samuel Miller, attorney for the Wisconsin Citizens' Committee for Educational Television, Inc. It is seeking Channel 9 for a non-commercial educational TV station which would be operated by the University of Wisconsin.
A lengthy hearing on the issues was held about a year ago by FCC examiner Charles J. Frederick. He ruled in favor of Central Wisconsin in a decision announced last October.

Freedom Church Sets Services, Announces Theme of Sermon

FREEDOM — Rev. Erwin E. Boettcher will preach on "Unity in Diversity" at the 10 a.m. service Sunday in Freedom Moravian Church.
Sermon topic is "World Council of Churches," designated theme for Pentecost Sunday. Communion will be celebrated at the service. Sunday school is at 8:45 a.m.
The Moravian Youth Fellowship is having its annual paper drive Saturday. The drive is directed by President Donald Krahn and fellowship members.
They will spend all that day gathering paper, sorting and bundling it. Profits from the drive will provide clothing for an orphan child in the Alaskan Moravian Children's Home.
The Rev. Mr. Boettcher will attend a camp leadership training session next week at Ashbury Acres, Almond, Portage County. The session is sponsored by the Wisconsin Council of Churches and is planned to train camp directors and counselors. He will attend as pastoral advisor of the Moravian Junior High Youth Camp Aug. 16-22, near Hatley.

2 Jailed After Fight in Road

Former Tigerton Man Admits Tipsy Driving Charge

WAUPACA — Two men found brawling on a Town of Larrabee road have been jailed here in lieu of fines assessed by Municipal Justice George Whalen.
Leo L. Petts, 25, Three Lakes, formerly of Tigerton, was sentenced to 45 days in jail after he was unable to pay a $100 fine resulting from his guilty plea to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.
His companion, Bernie J. Edwards Jr., 19, route 1, Eagle River, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was sentenced to 45 days in jail or until a $50 fine is paid.
Sheriff Loran Frazier said Clintonville police received calls from two motorists who claimed a car was traveling erratically Thursday on a Town of Larrabee road. The next call said the two men were fighting in the middle of the road.
Sheriff Frazier said the two men admitted they were fighting because of an argument as to which direction Milwaukee was located.
They were taken to the Clintonville police station where they admitted they drank eight quarts of beer, Sheriff Frazier said.

GOP Members Top 45,000

Talkot Peterson Reports on Party Affiliation Drive

MADISON — Data - paying members of the Republican state organization have reached the 45,000 mark, the chairman of the Republican state committee reported today.
Talkot Peterson, Appleton, said a compilation of reports from the congressional district party chairmen showed a new high total of dues-payers in the county and ward units of the party when he called for them last month.
He said the total will probably reach 50,000 when later reports are received and membership rolls expand with the increase in election year campaign activity.

Three Hurt In Accident

Appleton Couple, Indiana Woman Are In Marion Mishap

CLINTONVILLE — Three persons received facial cuts and were taken to the Clintonville Community hospital for treatment after a deer leaped into the path of their northbound car, in Shawano County, 3 1/2 miles north of Marion on U.S. 45, at 6:05 p.m. Friday.
The deer hit the windshield, went through it and smashed the left front door window, according to the state patrol.
Most seriously injured was the driver of the car, Joseph H. Wydeven, 55, 1110 W. Fifth Ave., Appleton. Passengers injured were Mrs. Wydeven, 57, and Miss Mary Sue Spurlock, 22, Lawrenceburg, Ind. Three other passengers in the car, a son of the Wydevens and two nuns, were not injured.
Damages to the car were estimated at $200 by the investigating officer.

Neenah Man Pleads Innocent Of Tippy Driving

WAUPACA — James H. Ely, 22, 616 Western Ave., Neenah, pleaded innocent of driving too fast for conditions when he appeared Friday before Municipal Justice George Whalen.
Ely was released when he furnished a bond of $75.25. The trial will be at 10 a.m. Friday before Municipal Justice Whalen.
He was arrested by Waupaca city police after he was involved in a traffic accident about 4:20 p.m. Sunday on Fulton Street. Police said Ely was driving a motorcycle west on Fulton Street when it struck a curb in front of the Phillips 66 service station.

Song Bird Bill Fails

Mourning Dove Still Won't be Hunters' Prey

MADISON — Failure of a legislative drive to add the mourning dove to the official list of song birds of Wisconsin does not put the dove in any immediate danger of becoming a target for the guns of hunters, a Conservation Department spokesman said today.
While the failure of the legislative protection bill through a veto by Gov. Reynolds means its future status can be determined by the State Conservation Commission, there is no early likelihood the dove will be added to the list of game bird species and subjected to harvesting by hunters, the official said.
Dave Seaman
There have been sporadic suggestions for a mourning dove shooting season in Wisconsin, but they have elicited little rank and file sportsmen's interest. In other states the dove is legal game, under established rules of bird hunting. Here a test vote in the Wisconsin Conservation Congress several years ago indicated opposition to such a policy.
Conservation commissioners whenever suggestions for a dove season are heard also are likely to remember the record of support for protection of the species that was shown in the legislature.
The protection bill passed both legislative houses, and ran into a veto by Gov. Reynolds largely on the ground that the Conservation Commission should be entitled to handle such matters.

State to Dredge Marina Channel At High Cliff

MADISON — The State Conservation Department will dredge the channel at the High Cliff Park marina in Calumet County to a depth of five feet, Supt. D. J. Mackie has announced.
Present depth in the channel in some sections is only three feet because of sand and gravel deposits caused by action of the Lake Winnebago water.
Mackie said a study is underway to determine what kind of a breakwater can be provided to prevent such deposits in the future. The dredging will be undertaken to aid boat traffic during the 1964 season.

'David Hall Story' Wins Film Award

NEW YORK — The "David Hall Story," a filmed plea for sane and defensive driving based on the life of Green Bay's David Hall, has received the highest award accorded by the National Committee on Films for Safety.
The 25-minute color film, sponsored by Employers Mutuals of Wausau, was a unanimous choice as the outstanding entry in the "Traffic Inspirational" class, one of seven areas used to determine top awards.
"The David Hall Story" retells the story of an automobile accident resulting from unsafe speeds and follows David Hall, from a collision that almost cost him his life through the long rehabilitation stages up to his selection in 1963 as America's Handicapped Man of the Year.
David, 28, spends much of his time personally bringing his story to high school audiences throughout Wisconsin.

Farmer s Can't Solve Own Problems, Congressman Says

Union President Tells Writers Hired Help Should be Organized

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

WASHINGTON — A New York City congressman who feels farmers are incapable of solving their own problems and a labor leader who would organize farm labor, shared views on farm problems with members of the Newspaper Farm Editors Association here this week.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, Democrat from Queens, said "Farmers are ill-equipped to solve the farm problem."

James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, said farmers should know that labor is their friend. He also said workers who are employed by the farmers should be brought into the ranks of organized labor.

Rosenthal isn't just a metropolitan legislator sticking his nose into other people's business. He is a member of the committee on agriculture of the U. S. House of Representatives. "Hose and Buggy"

"One trouble," the congressman contended, "is that we have entrusted farm problems

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, May 16, the 137th day of 1964. There are 229 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1860, the Republican National Convention in Chicago nominated Abraham Lincoln for president.

On this date

In 1639, Newport, R.I., was founded.

In 1919, the first transatlantic flight was made by the Navy seaplane NC4.

In 1935, a mutual assistance pact was signed by the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia.

In 1942, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill said, "None of us is calling for any favors from the enemy."

Ten years ago—South Korea acknowledged that the United Nations, the United States and South Korea had spent $810 million since 1949 for economic aid and rehabilitation of the country.

Five years ago — Red China was reported easing discipline and government crop controls because of growing unrest in farm areas.

One year ago—Air Force Maj. Gordon Cooper finished a 22-orbit of the earth during a 34-hour trip in space.

To Your Good Health

Plastic Nose Surgery Needs Great Precision

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I want to have plastic surgery for my big nose. I am 18, and my parents will pay half and I will pay the rest. But we all want to know more about it before we consult a surgeon.

What is the average cost? Can the surgeon create any kind of nose desired? Where does one look for a good, reliable specialist? — MISS A. H.

Cost? Several hundred dollars. Assuming that you have insurance, you must find out whether it will cover any of the cost, because this is an elective type of thing. You don't need it for health; you want it for appearance's sake.

This is a problem on which you had best make up your mind after you have consulted a surgeon, and heard his estimates. Your locality, the surgeon's estimate, and other factors will enter into it. Talking to the doctor doesn't commit you to anything, and in such cases I urge people to find out the cost before making a decision.

Can the surgeon construct any kind of nose desired? Yes. But a surgeon usually does not do so. Why? Because, psychologically, people are not always very good judges of what they really want.

Must Look Right

A young woman with an oversized nose may get to daydreaming about looking like a certain movie actress. But the latter's nose might not look right on her.

So surgeons create noses which will fit faces, not the nose that people may, at first, think they want. Before the operation, measurements are taken of the face. The length and angle of the nose have to be right. Photographs or sketches are commonly used, so an idea can be provided as to what result is to be expected.

The surgeon doesn't just start whittling freehand. He can't add or subtract on a trial and error basis, such as an artist can when modeling a face (or nose) with clay. He has to know exactly what he is going to do

Chicago Crime Rate Reported On Downgrade

CHICAGO (AP)—Crime — of all things — is falling off in rough, tough Chicago.

And most of the credit for the dropping crime rate belongs to Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson, 64, who says it's "all been easier than I thought it would be."

Wilson, a former dean of criminology at the University of California, is beginning his fifth year as head of the 13,000-man police department, one of the nation's largest.

When Wilson took over, some said it was also one of the most corrupt.

"I'm not going to bury my head in the sand," Wilson said in an interview Thursday. "There was a lot of corruption and graft in the department before I came.

"We had then and still have a lot of organized crime in Chicago. We haven't got it whipped yet, but we're working on it."

Last year while the nation's major crime rate rose 10 per cent, a dropoff of more than 3 per cent was recorded in Chicago.

"We've broken the trend," Wilson said, and he gives much of the credit to a host of major revamping programs.

Wilson has a host of critics, many of them on the police force who sullenly refer to him as "the professor."

But he said they don't worry him.

"Memory of the Man and the Summer of 1963."

The Alexander Reid prize in the sketch was awarded to Nancy Wiley, Palos Heights, Ill., for "Milkweed Wings," while the Tichenor prize for the critical essay was won by Jerry Lincoln, Scarsdale, N. Y., for "Value in Gatsby's World."

The Cusic prize in creative writing was given to Bonnie Booth, Bartlett, Ill., for "Sonnet XIV: John Donne."

Village 4-H Club Officers Named

LITTLE CHUTE — Officers were elected at an organizational meeting of a 4-H Club at Little Chute and members selected the name Little Shooters.

Named president was Glenn Hartmann while Kay Vander Wist was named vice president, Sharon Krueger, secretary and Joann Kilsdonk, treasurer. Miss Krueger informed the group she would not be able to accept the position and Pat Johnson was selected to serve.

Others elected were Gerry Boole, reporter, and Dennis Hartmann, sergeant at arms. Plans were made to participate in the Memorial Day parade in the village and Miss Johnson was selected to head the banner committee.

Spanish Club At AHS Holds Final Meeting

"Los Amigos Siempre," the Appleton High School Spanish Club, held its final meeting of the year in the Early American Room of the school.

Christine Fourness received the official gavel from retiring co-president Mary Beth Thomas. Kitty Huebner was chosen vice president and assistant to Miss Fourness, who has been a co-president of the club this year. Barbara Simenson received the secretary's book from outgoing secretary Julie Schroeder. Katie Krell, present treasurer, again assumed the responsibility of caring for the club's finances for the coming year.

Jolene Hopfensperger, the newly elected publicity chairman, succeeds Kitty Huebner, who has been in charge of all poster construction and publicity this season. Dennis Meredith and Sandra Petros assumed the responsibility of preparing all club programs, including an appropriate Mexican Christmas program, a Pan American one, and others representative of Spanish speaking countries. The new program chairmen are successors of Katherine Harkins. Barbara Simenson and Mary Sumnlicht relinquished the traditional spoon to newly elected refreshment chairmen Mary Dahl and Susan Dreier.

Partly arrangements were made by co-president Mary Beth Thomas and Mrs. Donald Himebaugh, club sponsor.

Ralph Sanders New Commander of Pierre Appleton VFW Post

Ralph Sanders has been installed as commander of Harvey Pierre Post 2773 Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Installing officer was Ernest Mueller.

Delegates to the state department convention in Eau Claire in June also were named.

Robert Johnson, seam squirrel of the Military Order of Cooties said a Memorial Day dinner will be held in the VFW clubhouse.

Goldwater Club to Campaign for Funds

A Goldwater for President Club in Outagamie County has informed County Clerk Miss Mollie Pfeffer the organization will solicit funds in the county.

Named as officers are Dr. A. P. Popelka, 1907 N. Gillett St., chairman, and Mrs. A. P. Popelka, 1907 N. Gillett St., treasurer. Other officers will be elected at a May 28 meeting. Mrs. Popelka said the organization has 23 members presently.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Howell, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Howell, Ph.D.

DON'T LET YOUR FEELINGS INFLUENCE YOUR BUDGET/RIGHT OR WRONG?

Wrong. Your feelings can not and should not be left out. Things that are important to you as an individual must be taken into account. One couple prefers to buy hamburger, rather than expensive food, so that they can afford another baby. Another couple is willing to wear hand-me-downs so they can send their son to camp each summer. Values of each member of the family should be taken into account as plans are made.

Which women are more beautiful? Modern — Classic Greek —

More modern women are naturally beautiful than the occasional Venus de Milo or other sculptured Greek beauties were. It is not just a matter of today's taste. Modern woman is the result of optimum nutrition since she was a tiny tot, protection from disease and excellent medical care including good obstetrics throughout her life. She has a healthy, glowing beauty that lasts through the years. On top of all this, she has the help of good modern design, all that the cosmetic industry can devise to enhance her natural loveliness, and wisdom enough to keep herself trim and fit. What more can a woman ask for?

Can you tell if you need an eye examination?

Yes, you can, when you know what symptoms indicate eye trouble. The National Society for Prevention of Blindness says that the warning signs of eye trouble in adults include blurred or foggy vision, loss of side vision, rainbow-colored rings around lights, inability to adjust the eyes to darkened room (such as theatres), frequent changes of glasses none of which is satisfactory, double vision, or spots in the field of vision. Instead of taking chances with any of these indications of possible eye trouble, have an eye examination promptly.

2 Candidates Announce for Assembly Post

Harold Froehlich,
George Greisch Bid
For 1st District Seat

Account developed Friday for the Republican nomination for Outagamie County's First District Assemblyman as two prominent Appleton attorneys and GOP party members announced their candidacy.

Harold Froehlich, incumbent assemblyman from the "old" First District, and George Greisch, former Outagamie County district attorney and present Outagamie County Board member are the opponents.

Two Members of Magr. John J. Loerke Council No. 1922, Knights of Columbus, Clintonville, received 50-year membership certificates and pins at a meeting in St. Rose Catholic School hall. From left are M. C. Freiburger, Waupaca, district deputy, who presented the awards to B. E. Meyer, Marion, and Harold Olk, Clintonville. Grand Knight Anthony Henn, Clintonville, looks on. Memorial Day Service Slated at Clintonville

The Rev. Thaddeus Koszarek Will Give
Address at Cemetery; Parade Order Set

The contest developed largely as a result of the state legislative reapportionment decision announced Thursday by the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Third Seat

The Supreme Court's ruling gave Outagamie County a third seat in the State Assembly.

Froehlich, lives at 1036 W. Grant St., in what is now Outagamie County's new Third District. However, Froehlich said today he is moving from his present residence in Appleton's 18th Ward.

The reapportionment places all of the Outagamie County section of Appleton as far north as Wisconsin Avenue, plus the 14th Ward, in the new Third District. The rest of the city makes up the new First District. The First District formerly included all of Appleton, Town of Grand Chute and part of Town of Center.

14th Ward Lines

The 14th Ward boundaries are Meade Street on the west, McDonald Street on the east, Wisconsin Avenue to the south, and Capitol Drive to the north.

Greisch, 43, lives in the "new" First District at 906 N. State St. He is a county board supervisor from Appleton's Third Ward. In addition, he is a member of the Urban Affairs Committee of the State Legislative Council.

Froehlich said his decision to move came before the Supreme Court changed the Outagamie County Assembly districts.

Needs Larger House

Froehlich, who is single and lives with his mother, said the decision to move "is motivated by a need for a larger house. I need more space to entertain and more space to do my work."

He said "It has been a privilege to represent the old First District... and I would like to continue to serve in the Legislature as a representative of the new First District."

"My main legislative interests have developed around the subjects of taxation, governmental expenditures and governmental reform," Froehlich said, "and my personal views more closely represent the all urban First District than the urban-rural Third District. I intend to be a strong advocate for those views if re-elected to the Legislature."

Other Areas

In addition to Appleton's 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th Wards, the new Third District includes the towns of Black Creek, Bova, Center, Cicero, Dale, Deer Creek, Ellington, Grand Chute, Greenville, Hortonville, Liberty, Main and Maple Creek; the villages of Bear Creek, Black Creek, Hortonville and Shiocton; and the portion of the city of New London in Outagamie County.

The new Second District in Outagamie County includes the towns of Buchanan, Freedom, Kaukauna, Oneida, Osborn, Seymour and Vandenberg; the villages of Combined Locks, Kimberly and Little Chute, plus the cities of Seymour and Kaukauna.

There are no announced Republican or Democratic candidates for the Third District seat, Democrat William Rogers, Kaukauna, incumbent assemblyman in the old Second District, now residents in the "new" Third.

"Sound Representation"

Greisch said today he could give "good and sound representation" to the new First District. He said he "knows the district and its residents and I am familiar with the legislative process in the State Assembly."

Greisch attended Appleton public schools, was graduated from Appleton High School, received his bachelor of arts from Lawrence College, and his doctor of law from the University of Wisconsin Law School. He has practiced law in Appleton since 1954 and served as a district attorney from 1961 to 1963.

NEW LONDON — The New London police department made 43 arrests during April, according to a report prepared by Police Chief Jack Algiers.

Fourteen of the arrests were for speeding and 10 for arterial violations. Single arrests were made for operating an auto while intoxicated, disorderly conduct, disregarding traffic light, operating auto after revocation of drivers license, permitting an unauthorized person to drive, illegal mufflers, illegal use of license plates, hit and run driving, no drivers license and failure to transfer title.

Two motorists were arrested for making illegal left turns, two for driving in the same block with a fire truck and five were ticketed for failure to yield right of way.

Criminal complaints numbered five. Two were burglary, two sex offenses and one missing person. Both of the sex offenses and the missing person complaints were cleared. Listed under common complaints are five dog complaints, two requests from the public and 87 miscellaneous complaints.

Investigate Accidents

Police investigated 10 accidents during the month, five of them involved damages of over $100 and the other five resulted in minor damages.

Ten juveniles were handled by the department during the month, clearing several burglaries in the city and in Outagamie and Waupaca counties. Seven of the juveniles were referred to the welfare department.

Eight bicycles were reported missing and seven were recovered. Listed as miscellaneous services in the report are eleven blood runs for hospitals, 11 funeral escorts, three miscellaneous escorts, 96 services rendered to the public, 12 other police departments assisted, our doors found unlocked, 21 burned out street lights discovered, 11 dogs picked up, and 18 solicitors were registered.

Nine people were issued five day tickets and two prisoners were held in the city jail.

Waupaca Church Sets
Registration Sunday
For Summer School

WAUPACA — Registration for children planning to enter the vacation church school this summer at First Methodist Church will be at 9:15 a.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. James Saunders, pastor.

Parents have been asked to attend the service in the church when enrollment cards will be given out. The summer classes will be offered to all children from four years old through sixth grade.

The Rev. Mr. Saunders said there will be two services Sunday mornings throughout the summer starting June 7. The summer schedule, through August, will consist of services at 9 and 10:30 a.m. and church school at 9 a.m. instead of 9:15 a.m.

Winnebago Sheriff Contest Chances Fade

Captain of County
Patrol Won't Run
Against Sergeant

OSHKOSH — A possible contest for sheriff on the Republican ticket faded Friday while a contest developed for register of deeds. Friday is the first day on which candidates may secure and circulate nomination papers.

Sgt. Marvin Peppier of the Winnebago County Traffic Police took out nomination papers for the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket. Capt. Edwin A. Harwood of the county police also today announced that he has decided not to seek the sheriff's post and urged a united front behind Peppier.

The contest for the register of deeds office is between the incumbent Miss Bernice L. Fuller, 676 Central St., Oshkosh, who is seeking her sixth term in that office, and George Yost, 87 Harmel St., Oshkosh, an employee of the Home Abstract Co. of Oshkosh.

Nomination papers also were taken out this morning at the office of County Clerk Dorothy L. Propp by Mrs. Propp, 106 E. New York Ave., who is seeking her first full term as county clerk; county treasurer Frank Luedke, 537 Evans St., seeking his third term; Arthur C. Miller, 1831 N. Washburn St., Oshkosh, seeking his second term as coroner; William E. Osborne, 1249 Campbell St., Neenah, seeking his eighth full term as clerk of courts; and Gerald L. Engeldin, 1056 Reed St., Neenah, seeking his first term as district attorney.

Peppier has been on the county police force for 15 years and has been a sergeant for 3½ years. A veteran of World War II with service in the navy amphibian corps which took part in the invasions of Iwo Jima, Okinawa and the Leyte Campaign is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Toastmasters Club, Elks Lodge and Masonic Lodge 205.

Japs Set to Back
Nuclear Tests Ban

TOKYO (AP)—Japan agreed Friday to back Premier Khrushchev's call for a joint effort to ban all nuclear weapons tests—provided the Soviets accept an adequate inspection system.

Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda spelled out Japan's position to Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, who brought Khrushchev's proposal when he arrived Thursday for a two-week visit.

$10,000 Damage In Barn Fire Near Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA—A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn on the Harvey Foth farm, Vandenberg Road, route 1, Kaukauna, about 7 p.m. Thursday.

Loss was estimated at $10,000 by Edward Sprangers, Town of Vandenberg fire chief, who stated the fire was beyond control when volunteer firemen arrived.

Two heifers in the barn were saved as firemen chopped a hole in the rear wall to release the animals. Hay and straw in the barn were destroyed.

Firemen remained at the scene until 10:30 p.m. watering down the home and other buildings to keep the fire from spreading. The fire was noted by Charles Deeg, who rents the farm home.

Lawrence Gets
$41,995 in Aid

Science Foundation Gives Funds for
Matching Program

Six separate grants for instructional scientific equipment totaling $41,995 have been made to Lawrence College by the National Science Foundation to assist in equipping the Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science now nearing completion.

The National Science Foundation requires that the college match the sums awarded, so actually more than $80,000 will be made available for equipment.

The biology department, under the direction of Dr. Sumner Richman, was granted $11,730, which will be used for controlled temperature and humidity equipment, balances, animal room, microscopes and specialized instruments for plant and animal physiology.

$5,500 Grant

The chemistry department has been granted $5,500, with Dr. Richard Zuehlke acting as liaison official. Courses in principles of chemistry and physics, organic and physical chemistry, qualitative organic and advanced analytical chemistry will benefit.

Geology has been given $9,570 for Dr. William Read to choose equipment for courses in mineralogy and petrology, economic geology of metals, stratification and sedimentation, invertebrate paleontology, and field methods.

Dr. J. Bruce Brackenridge has been assigned two equipment grants, one in physics, and one for interdepartmental work. Physics will receive $4,230 for instruments in advanced electrical measurements, general laboratory and demonstration equipment. Interdepartmental courses will receive $8,650 for metal, wood and glass-blowing shop equipment.

Psychology, with Dr. Chester J. Hill supervising, has been given $2,310 for experimental apparatus, animal colony and student shop facilities.

Shiocton Man Must Be Using High Sudser

A rural Shiocton man has informed the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department a low-flying plane sometime Thursday night sprayed chemicals on his farm land.

The man told authorities the chemicals prevented crops from growing. He said the chemicals left a sudy dew on the ground this morning.

Sheriff authorities said the complaint was unfounded.

The land is for street purposes.

Circular School
Design Approved
For Appleton

Preliminary plans for a unique, almost windowless senior high school with a circular academic wing and a swimming pool were unveiled for the Appleton Board of Education Thursday.

The board authorized architect Raymond LeVeé to proceed with drawings based on the general concepts he presented at the special meeting. The board did not approve details of the interior plans.

LeVeé estimated the cost of the proposed southeast senior high, scheduled to open in the fall of 1966, at $4,280,000. The previous estimate was $4 million.

The proposed school will have a three-story circular academic section, flanked by three other day from County Clerk Miss sections for fine arts, physical education and industrial arts. The school will be in the interior classrooms, office area and library.

Board members raised questions on space allocations with Elden J. Broehm, 1119 N. State in the building but unanimously supported the plan's basic concept.

Earl J. Dunbar, 59, State Drug Inspector, Dies at Green Bay

Earl J. Dunbar, 59, Green Bay, a drug inspector for the State Board of Pharmacy, died early Friday morning in Green Bay.

He was a graduate of Marquette University School of Pharmacy and a Shawano drugist for 20 years.

Survivors are the widow, son, brother and sister.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday in St. John's Catholic Church, Seymour, with the Rev. Joseph A. Labno of County Court parish officiating. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call at Muehl Funeral Home, Seymour, after charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

Waupaca Couple
Given Divorce

WAUPACA — Wallace A. Wilkening, 45, route 1, Waupaca, was granted a divorce from Mrs. Velma Louise Wilkening, route 1, Waupaca, Monday by Judge Wendell McHenry of County Court.

They were married Nov. 29, 1947, in Chicago. No children are affected by the decree. He charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The city affairs committee will draw up specifications for black topping and oiling of streets for 1964 and will advertise. Proposals will be opened at 8 p.m. on May 25.

Winfred Riemer filed a petition for annexing territory south and east of the city limits.

Proofs of responsibility were accepted from the firms making bids for street extension work and also from Courtney and Plummer, Inc., Neenah.

Four Youths At Teen Bar Before Crash

Four youths who were involved in a one-car accident April 28 in which an 18-year-old Appleton youth was fatally injured had been to a teenage bar moments before the accident occurred, testimony at a coroner's inquest Thursday showed.

Fatally injured when the car went out of control and turned over was Robert L. Lueck, 18, of Appleton. He died two days after the accident. Three others in the car were injured.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and Asst. Dist. Atty. James Bayorgeon have withheld a ruling until they have studied testimony.

The youths were on the way to Appleton where they planned to visit one of the youth's homes to play cards. They had consumed a quart of beer each at the Crystal Lake Beach teenage beer bar, according to testimony at the inquest.

Driver of the car, LeRoy Krahn, 19, Appleton, is still in Appleton Memorial Hospital with injuries Kemps and Bayorgeon took a statement from him at the hospital Tuesday.

Five Take Papers
For Outagamie
Elective Posts

Five candidates for Outagamie County elected offices took out nomination papers Friday from County Clerk Miss sections for fine arts, physical education and industrial arts. The school will be in the interior classrooms, office area and library.

Papers were taken by Miss Pfeiffer, for county clerk; Sydney Shannon, 1019 N. Owassa St., incumbent clerk of courts; Elden J. Broehm, 1119 N. State in the building but unanimously supported the plan's basic concept.

Kemps, 1412 W. Franklin St., incumbent coroner; and Raymond A. Bentz, 1301 S. Alicia St., incumbent treasurer.

All five candidates are Republicans. There have been no Democratic office seekers yet. Papers were available to prospective candidates since 8 a.m. today.

Don't Pick Those Pretty Wild Flowers

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen..." That's what Thomas Gray wrote in his "Elegy" and it was a soft truism then as it is now. But today, 104 years after the appearance of his epic poem, the truth is not so exact. The world is crowded now, and many of the people who crowd it never see a wild flower.

Many others see them — and pick them. It is not always proper and not always legal to do so. Because some wild flowers, once plucked, can never come back there is a great need for conserving the ones we have. And, alas, many of them are in scant supply.

Trilliums once grew plentifully in Appleton's disappearing woodlands, but the pretty three-petaled flower has been all but wiped out by people who love flowers and by children who love to pick them.

Randall's Woods in northeast Appleton near Memorial Hospital and Glenwood Acres was once blanketed with trilliums but neighboring children innocently gather them with the result that each year they come closer to extinction here.

It is unfortunate that the attraction of the wild flowers is precisely what draws people to pick them. And when trilliums are plucked they are virtually destroyed not only for the year but forever. They cannot easily "come back."

Perhaps it is best to help children learn to enjoy the wild flowers where they are, they are prettier there, and they come back year after year for other children to enjoy.

Die So Soon

Plucked trilliums die in the vase all too soon; and they are usually dead before they reach a vase. It is really better, in the wild. Furthermore, they are protected by law. The fine is $100 or 30 days in the county jail.

Would you like to see how pretty a blanket of trilliums can be when they carpet a field? On highway 45 just north of Hortonville and on route to New London, there is an undulating limestone hill which is covered with trilliums. They are easily seen (on the left side) of the road. But don't pick!

In addition to trilliums, here are the plants protected by law:

American lotus (the water lily), trailing arbutus, or any species of lady's slipper or any member of the orchid family or trillium or American bittersweet or any pitcher plants (turk's caps) or any wood lilies.

Fine or Jail

In each case, except that of the American lotus, the fine is $100 or 30 days in the county jail. In the case of the lotus, the fine is $100 or six months in jail.

The picking of unprotected wild flowers really should be done judiciously. The agricultural extension service suggests that the old Indian rule should pertain. Sensibly, it bears four rules:

1. Take only as much as you need.
2. Always leave a seed stick.
3. Do not destroy the whole to obtain a part.
4. Observe the rights of another's grounds.

Brillion School May Lease Church Room

Forest Junction Space Would Be Used for Kindergarten Class

BRILLION — A church school administration and school superintendent have agreed to lease a room at Forest Junction's Evangelical United Brethren Church for use for kindergarten classes next year.

The plan was discussed by the Brillion School District's board of education this week. If the Forest Junction School's kindergarten class is moved to church facilities, the room vacated at the school would be leased to Calumet County for special classes for retarded children.

The district's liability insurance coverage was boosted from $100,000 to $500,000.

Summer school classes will not be organized. Giving rise to the decision was the small registration devoting most of his time to

Lots to Front on River

Shiocton Accepts New Street in Braatz' Maple Point Addition

SHIOCTON — The village board has agreed to accept a new street in the Maple Point Addition which is being developed by Percy Braatz.

The new street, to be known as Maple Court, will open up river front lots west of the village park on State 187. The agreement to accept the road was made provided Braatz install a foot of fill at the west end of the road, gradually taper it towards State 187, top dress the street with gravel, coat with crushed rock and provide the village with an easement to install sewer over some of the lots in the addition.

Village President Martin Groth was instructed to contact an engineering firm to start preparing plans for the installation of sewer and water laterals in the addition.

The 700-foot road will open up eight lots in the addition. Some of the river lots will be on the Shiocton River and others on the Wolf River. In improving the addition, Braatz dug a 110-foot channel from the Wolf River and a shorter channel from the Shiocton River. Both channels are 80 feet wide and six feet deep at low water level.

No Summer Program
An offer from a faculty member of the Shiocton High School to direct a summer recreational program was turned down when the board voted not to conduct a recreational program this summer.

In the monthly report of Police Chief Raymond Muskevitch, he reported he made 12 arrests, issued 13 parking tickets, seven five-day tickets, 12 warnings and investigated 11 complaints during April. He traveled 1,200 miles.

Dale Nichols, scoutmaster of the local Boy Scout troop reported to the board. Owner Richard Singles has given him

Shiocton School Board Told WIAA Rates Up 20 Per Cent

SHIOCTON — The board of education at its May meeting was informed by the WIAA that all student and athletic insurance coverage premiums would be hiked 20 per cent increase in premiums for the 1964-65 school year.

The main reason for the increase the WIAA said, "was insurance - conscious accounts necessitating a large increase in claims."

A teaching contract for Stephen Rohde of Plymouth was signed by the board. Rohde, a recent graduate of Lawrence College, will teach vocal music, replacing Edward Boshen. Marvin Olson

Superintendent said the signing of Rohde leaves only one vacancy in the high school faculty, an art teacher.

Oby also has announced the school calendar for the 1964-65 school year has been completed. The year will be increased one day from 179 days to 180 days.

School will start with students taking TB examinations at Lakota Chute, August 25. A half-day registration day is set for Aug. 28. First day of classes will be Aug. 31. Major vacation periods will be Thanksgiving, Nov. 26; Christmas vacation Dec. 23 to Jan. 4 and Easter vacation April 16 to 19.

Trucking Firm Found Guilty

Waupaca Court Says Operation Exceeded WPSA Authority

WAUPACA — Municipal Justice George Whalen found Clifford Bloss and Eugene Vanderbilt, owners of a trucking firm at route 1, Oxford, guilty of two counts of operating trucks without contract authority.

He set fines of $50 on each of two charges but stayed the penalty until 5 p.m. Tuesday to give the defendants time to appeal.

Fines were set after Dist. Atty. Gerald K. Anderson and the defense attorney filed briefs on a point raised at the April 6 trial.

The firm's officers were arrested by state police for hauling charcoal to Berwind Fuel Co. for the firm owned by Leo Cottini, Briggsville, which has public service commission authority.

The defense contended it was an emergency stating Berwind Fuel Co. was running low on charcoal. Anderson argued there was no emergency as three other trucking firms could have served the firm.

Jaycees, Police Test 185 Cars In Waupaca

WAUPACA — Waupaca Jaycees and city and state police inspected 185 vehicles during the opening night of the voluntary safety check on School Street.

Police Chief Fred Rasmussen said 27 mechanical defects were found Wednesday night as automobiles and trucks passed through the inspection.

Working on the inspection were Rasmussen, Noel Pope, Kenneth Taggart, State Patrolman Duane Schmiedens, Sgt. Jack Penney, a member of the city police department; Cal and Vernon Johnson, Dave Pennebecker and Lloyd Lacasse.

The safety check will continue through Saturday. Cars checked by the Jaycee program will be allowed to pass through the state patrol inspection scheduled in the near future.

Scholarship winners in the Third annual Chilton Chamber of Commerce scholarship banquet are, from left, Phyllis Schneider, Don Ludwig, Bette Uhlenbrauck, Carroll Walker, Joyce Pagel and James Vogel.

Swedish Girl Will be Exchange Student at Clintonville High

Mari Emilie Stenvag Will Live With Mack Family; Parents Fled Communist Estonia

CLINTONVILLE — Mari Emilie Stenvag, 17, Vastergotland, Sweden, will attend the high school here as a foreign exchange student in her senior year this fall.

The local American Field Service (AFS) chapter recently was notified of Miss Stenvag's assignment by the national AFS unit.

Mrs. Scott Miller, who has served as president of AFS locally for the past year, said United Nations. She is preparing to become a teacher by June 1 toward transportation and expenses for the Swedish student. Her room and board during last summer she took will be provided by the Charles Mack family, who will be Miss Stenvag's host family.

Expense Payment
Her school expenses will be paid by the student council. Contributions may be left at here in August.

Miss Stenvag currently is in her third year in a Swedish high school. She was in the "Humanistic line" until last year when she entered the "Social line." She wrote that she had been interested in social conditions "for a long time" and has much respect for the work of the United Nations. She is preparing to become a teacher by June 1 toward transportation and expenses for the Swedish student. Her room and board during last summer she took will be provided by the Charles Mack family, who will be Miss Stenvag's host family.

Last year Miss Stenvag traveled in Norway and during three other years she toured Denmark. She is expected to arrive here in August.

1964 Waupaca County Fair Will Include Queen Contest

Event to be Staged Aug. 28 in Weyauwega; Cash Prize of $100

WAUPACA — Directors of the Waupaca County Fair Association Wednesday night approved a plan to include a "County Fair Queen" contest this year.

Directors, who met at Jan-nuch's Supper Club, Manawa, decided the contest will add more interest to the fair which is scheduled Aug. 27-30. Each county community has been invited to take part.

Contest rules state the contestant must be a single girl who attended high school in 1964. The winner will receive $100 cash. Two princesses will be selected and each will receive $50.

A group of three judges from outside of the county will pick the winner at a noon meal Aug. 28 in Weyauwega.

Personal appearance, poise, school activities, church activities and knowledge of the community will be the basis for judging.

Chase Representatives

Each of the local sponsoring organizations will choose a representative and have the contestant entered by Aug. 1. The crowning of the queen and two princesses will take place Saturday night, Aug. 28, with all of the contestants appearing before the grandstand in semi-formal attire.

Rules and entry blanks will be mailed to likely sponsoring organizations in a few days.

Entry blanks and rules can be had by contacting Harry Emans, New London, fair board secretary.

Representatives and organizations attending the planning meeting were Harry C. Owen, T. J. Tooley, R. R. Ritchie and Roger J. Goeringer, Clintonville Jaycees; Melvin Borchardt and Charles L. Hoffman, New London Jaycees; Edward Kramer, Waupaca Jaycees; Ray Kopplein, Weyauwega Lions; Harold L. Buchholz and Clement Kluge, Jola Lions; Kenneth Halpou, Marion Lions; Melvin Peltke and Lyle Spiegelberg, Manawa Lions; and Tom Pitt and William Mathwig, Fremont Chamber of Commerce.

Weyauwega To Add New Second Grade

WEYAUWEGA — Expanding enrollment at the Weyauwega Elementary school has forced addition of another second grade class next year, Supt. H. James Ramsdell said following Monday night's board of education meeting.

The room which will house the new second grade is being used to store law mowers and other tools and it will be necessary to construct a small utility building near the school.

Contracts for non-teaching employees were also signed at the meeting. The three drivers of elementary school buses each were granted a $5 per month raise.

A summer music program for elementary students which will include individual lessons and band concerts received the board's stamp of approval. The program will be conducted along with the high school summer band program.

Jaycettes Plan to Install Officers

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville Jaycettes will install officers Monday night following a 7:30 p.m. dinner at Fischer's Riviera Supper Club. Mrs. Gary Rudolph and Mrs. Carl Dehnke are co-chairmen of arrangements.

Officers who will be installed are Mrs. Harry Owen, president; Mrs. Dehnke, vice president; Mrs. Gary Below, secretary; Mrs. Roman Ritchie, treasurer; Mrs. Peter Oberhauser, state director, and Mrs. Rudolph, director.

Committee Appointed

Calumet Democrats to Seek Members, Funds

CHILTON — The Democratic party organization of Calumet County Thursday night launched concentrated membership and fund raising drives.

County Chairman Edward Eick, Chilton, appointed a six-man committee to guide the drive. The committee will determine at a meeting soon what the goals will be in each phase. Committee members are J. J. Flanagan, Eugene Winkler Jr., David Solchenberger, Don ald E. Bonk, G. G. Bloomer, and Raymond Krautkramer. To Meet Fieldmen

The executive committee, consisting of Eick, chairman, Mrs. Raymond, Krautkramer, Hilbert, vice - chairman, Clinton Schultz, Hilbert, secretary, and Mrs. Rosemary Fox, Chilton. Secretary, will meet with John C. Durand, state party field representative, June 2 to review the coming county, state and national campaign.

The meeting failed to produce a candidate. None of the incumbents of others announced intentions to run. This will be done at the June 10 meeting, Eick said.

Democrats discussed the ap-proaching state and national party conventions.

Clintonville Church Homebuilders to Meet
CLINTONVILLE — The Homebuilders of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday at the church.

The devotions will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Matt Dahm. The film "Artic Adventure" will be shown. Lunch will be served by the Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Gutknecht and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kasten.

Rockefeller Is Victor Over Lodge in Oregon

precincts counted, the Republican vote stacked up this way: Rockefeller 50,452; Lodge 41,800; Goldwater 22,979; Nixon 20,520; Smith 5,367; Scrantom 2,944.

That gave Rockefeller 53 per cent of the vote and Lodge 27 per cent. These percentages stood from the very first sprinkling of votes Friday night.

Foals Grindale, Rockefeller, who spent a month stumping Oregon, heard the returns at his home in Tarrytown, N.Y., and said: "I have but one reaction tonight... and that is my feeling of deep gratitude to the people of that state for the victory they have given me."

With the Oregon upset, Rockefeller appeared to have shaken for the first time the shadow issue of his divorce and his remarriage a year ago to the divorced mother of four children. The second Mrs. Rockefeller expects a baby in about two weeks.

"I think the Oregon victory put the Rockefeller divorce matter more in its true focus," said Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, "and Oregonians showed they voted for the man and what he stands for rather than any labels he may have or his personal affairs."

Hatfield, who stayed neutral in the Oregon campaign — dispatched this telegram to the New York governor: "Your victory here is a great personal one and is the result of your vigorous presentation of yourself and the issues to the people of Oregon."

Goldwater, who pulled out of the Oregon campaign five weeks ago, was hunting votes in California after writing off the Oregon primary. He said he would be happy to run better than fourth.

Goldwater declared an Oregon victory would be impossible because he didn't spend enough time or money to win. His son, Barry Jr. and Michael, did the Goldwater campaigning here. "It went about the way I expected it to," Goldwater said of the Oregon race. "I have 335 delegates now, and Mr. Rockefeller has Oregon's... I'm glad he has some. It makes a better race."

Pollsters and politicians had expected Lodge to win. When he didn't, Paul Grindale, chief of the drive to draft the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, called the Oregon outcome "a great tribute to moderate, middle-of-the-road Republicanism."

"We all have a tremendous admiration for a man who keeps fighting," Grindale said of Rockefeller.

That left unanswered one big question about the faltering Lodge effort: Would his California supporters openly ally themselves with Rockefeller in California, where no write-in votes will be counted?

In the wake of the Oregon loss, Grindale said he and other Lodge campaign leaders would confer in Los Angeles today — but he insisted the ambassador's forces had not decided to throw their support to Rockefeller in California.

"We're simply going to explore the whole situation and the situation in California," he said.

Grindale had said earlier his men were going to "sit here and clear our heads." He added, "We don't know where we're going from here."

Hatfield called Rockefeller's victory "the upset of the year" and predicted it would influence the California race.

"If he goes on to win in the California primary, I think he definitely will be in the front-running position for the nomination," said the Oregon governor.

questioned whether Hoffa can remain in power, in the face of the court actions, without the backing of the union treasury. Others point out that Hoffa has weathered some hard storms in the past.

The six Philadelphia Teamsters who filed the suit are part of the same group who kicked off a feud in the Teamster high command several weeks ago over the question of Hoffa's legal fees.

Teamsters general counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, agreed with the Philadelphia group that such expenditures are illegal. Some executive board members demanded a full board meeting to consider the question further.

No such meeting has yet been scheduled on the issue but Hoffa said he would stop using union money to pay his huge legal costs until the Teamsters can get another legal opinion on the matter.

Federal Probe
The suit follows a recently announced Labor Department investigation into the union's payment of Hoffa's legal bills.

The only power the Labor Department has is to investigate and make public the amount spent for Hoffa's legal expenses.

The law leaves it up to individual union members, such as the Philadelphia group, to sue for reimbursement of any money allegedly spent improperly.

The Philadelphia group also asked that bonding companies who have bonded top union officials be made part of the suit. They said Teamsters leaders have refused to tell them the names of the bonding companies.

Hoffa Named

The suit named Hoffa, 14 other members of the union's executive board and four trustees. The union has refused to say how much Hoffa's long legal troubles have cost.

The six Teamsters contended that union officials are responsible under federal law to use union money solely for the benefit of the union and its members.

The six men who filed the suit are John C. Jones Sr., Jesse Coplo, Benjamin Burnham, Louis J. Buttone, L. V. Schafer and John Reagan.

Reynolds Signs
Bill to Develop
Bong Air Base

MADISON (AP) — A bill to grant the Surplus Property Development Corp. authority to develop an airport at the abandoned Bong Air Force Base in Racine and Kenosha counties was signed into law Friday by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The bill will give the corporation the powers of a municipality so it may apply for state and federal airport aides.

Also signed by the governor was a bill to allow counties to designate 10 per cent of their county trunk systems as controlled access routes.

Another measure signed by the governor would allow assessment freezes to be granted for redevelopment of blighted urban land areas of 25,000 square feet or more.

What shall we do with her? —Unhappy Parents
Dear Parents: This girl is out of control and has been for a long time. She needs the skilled help of a professional counselor—and she needs it now. Call your city health department for guidance.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print my letter for other wives who may be getting fed up with dishes, kids, laundry, in-laws, church work and a tired husband.

I had a cheap and revolting affair with a man I've known for years. He, too, was married but swore he had been in love with me since college. I fooled myself into believing my life was dreary and unexciting and that I needed a new romance to restore my joie d'vivre.

After two clandestine meetings I felt ashamed and degraded. When he told me about three of my good friends with whom he has had affairs I was so shocked at his lack of integrity that it made me ill.

I've closed the door on that part of my life for good, but how can I be sure he will not see him but she used to sneak gossip about me as he did the out the bedroom window at midnight and even later. Twice my husband had to go down to the station and bring her home.

Last week the boy was arrested for stealing out of the cash register and forging his boss's name to checks. We were relieved when they came and got him.

Josephine is taking this awfully hard. Her appetite is poor and she cries all the time. I learned this morning that she has been sleeping in the dress she wore the last time she was with him. She says it smells of gasoline and brings back pleasant memories.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents are fine people of limited means. My husband's parents are well-to-do and have made it clear that they have nothing in common with my parents so we do not have them over together.

Our little girl who is 18 months old is the first grandchild on both sides so all four grandparents make quite a fuss over her. Whenever my in-laws come to the house, they bring expensive toys, silk and organdy dresses, fancy bonnets and so on. My parents bring nothing but their smiling faces and their loving hearts.

Do you feel that when the child gets older she will be partial to the grandparents who bring the gifts? I worry about this and would like your opinion.

—Young Mother
Dear Young: Love, respect and affection cannot be bought — and children are less susceptible than adults. It's how people treat us that determine what we feel about them. If your parents are loving and kind to your child this is enough.

Professional Guidance Is Answer in Teen's Problem

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What shall we do about our 15-year-old daughter? Last year Josephine started to run around with a 19-year-old boy who worked the night shift at a filling station down the street. The boy is no good.

My husband and I both told Josephine a dozen times that she must not see him but she used to sneak gossip about me as he did the out the bedroom window at midnight and even later. Twice my husband had to go down to the station and bring her home.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise: For those who have freezer compartments in their refrigerators... and are always "forgetting" or "losing" items:

I place a cookie sheet in the freezer compartment of my refrigerator and put all the frozen foods on it. All I have to do now is pull out the cookie sheet and see what is in the sack, etc!

The cookie sheet also keeps the packages of frozen foods from sticking to the freezer. This idea is wonderful when defrosting the refrig each week. I can just remove the cookie sheet and have all my frosting compartment unloaded at once, saving the time it takes to "un-pull" those frozen packages from the freezer one by one.

The cookie sheet is a good idea. We have been experimenting with lining not only the cookie sheet with foil (and it is working), but also the bottom of our freezer compartment and lapping the foil over the edge where the ice forms! Great!

What do you readers think? Do try it and drop us a line on a post card and tell us if you think we are right. We think we are. Write to Heloise care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed to appear.

Dear Heloise: Here is a hint for those who may purchase carpeting in the near future, and are in a quandary as to which type to buy — wool, nylon, acrylic, etc.:

Buy several carpet samples, one wool, one nylon, etc., and use as doormats or in a heavy traffic area. This way you can see how well each "stands up," which is easier to clean, and which is most suitable for your family, and compare the results yourself!

These samples can be bought cheaply, usually on sale for under $1. They make wonderful inside door mats — could also be used as car floor mats. I buy my samples the same color as my carpet.

Dear Heloise: For the lady who is making slip covers for small pillows to take along on vacations, I have a suggestion.

Why not sew strips of cloth about five inches long (double for strength), for handles on two sides of the covers? I did this when taking my pillows on a trip. Makes it much easier to handle with other luggage.

Dear Heloise: I have always been annoyed after taking a shower or bath, when the mirror is so steamed up, I can only see a slight image of myself.

I have found an answer to this annoying problem. Before taking a shower or bath I cover the mirror with a bath towel, tucking one end of it at the top of the mirror, and letting it hang.

It may not be stylish but it certainly is effective. When you remove the towel you will find the mirror as clean and clear as before putting up the towel.

Dear Heloise: I put the juice of half a lemon in my warm water suds when washing painted or varnished surfaces — then wipe dry. It makes woodwork shine like new.

Dear Heloise: I am one of those people who are always caught up on their correspondence!

Want to know how I do it? I keep stationery, envelopes, stamps, post cards, and spare address books in the glove compartment of my car and whenever there is a time that I am waiting, such as on a rainy day in front of my child's school, or in the doctor's waiting room, or under the dryer at a beauty parlor, I write letters to friends.

You would be amazed at how those spare moments you have in the day can be utilized!

Education and Politics Don't Mix

The meeting in Green Bay of the Boards of Regents of the University and the State Colleges and of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education climaxed the realization of the growing need in Northeastern Wisconsin for a four-year public institution of higher learning. But it is a long way from coming true. And there is also a need for a reorganization of the authority in charge of such decisions for the educational health of Wisconsin.

It was plain at the meeting that there is a good deal of confusion over the roles of the regents, the coordinating committee, the colleges and the university. And it is patently ridiculous that authority over any new institution should become a political football—a possibility that could well extend the time before the area gets the educational opportunities it deserves.

Part of the problem is one of prestige or "image," part of it is over what appear to be the changing roles of the different institutions; part of it is because of the very real and necessary competition for the tax dollar to be spent for higher education.

The Board of Visitors of the University recently issued a report pointing to some of the needs of the University in Madison and Milwaukee. The universities and the colleges always ask for more money from the legislature for operating expenses than they get. The need for such essentials as better equipped libraries is well known. How soon another four-year institution in the state becomes a reality then may not be in quite the immediate future as has been indicated. As the chairman of the Coordinating Committee pointed out, its responsibility is to all the people of Wisconsin.

But we believe most emphatically that the present lack of authority—real authority—of the Coordinating Committee somehow must be changed. At the very least the committee should decide exactly what agencies are to be responsible for the various kinds of education beyond the high school in Wisconsin.

There are several kinds. Graduate schools of course are parts of universities. Undergraduate education is handled by both the two universities and by the nine state colleges. There are still two-year county normal schools which are anachronistic in today's education picture. And there are the vocational and technical schools, probably the area in need of the greatest expansion today. But there is no clearly defined line to determine when new schools are started who is to have charge. The Coordinating Committee put off making such a decision at its last regular meeting.

It very well may be that Northeastern Wisconsin should have a university with the opportunity for graduate degrees. But even here there is not a clear cut line; some of the state colleges have limited graduate programs. And Milwaukee poses an example of one procedure whereby the state college was turned over to the university when its needs became more in tune with that of the university.

The state colleges were recently authorized to operate branch campuses, the equivalent of the university extensions. The meeting in Green Bay indicated that there is going to be a wide-open controversy over which is to do which — and every community or area which wants more higher educational opportunities is going to get caught in the middle. The problem is not the name of the institution; it is which can best function in the particular need of the community and the state. State college representatives have charged that the university is playing a "numbers" game, seeking a large quantity for prestige and to impress the legislature in its drive for funds. Probably the same could be said of the colleges. Such hassles can well restrict Wisconsin educational opportunities for a long time.

There was opposition to the expansion of the state colleges into liberal arts institutions; there was the same sort of opposition to the development of the college in Milwaukee into a university, the starting of extensions, the authorizations of branch campuses and to the creation of the Coordinating Committee. Fortunately for the educational opportunities of the state most such selfish opposition was overcome. It is important now that an orderly procedure be adopted for the expansion of higher education in Wisconsin. Otherwise every community seeking such service will be caught up in a controversy which really has no relation at all to the matter of education.

The state needs a single board to supervise higher education. Of course there will still be competition for the tax dollar. But it will not be so involved with personal loyalties, irrelevant arguments and political tomfoolery as it is right now.

Improving Bicycle Safety

Last week and this a group of Appleton men gave of their valuable time so our children may be assured in a small way of having a safe summer.

The men were members of Appleton's Noon Optimist Club conducting an after-school check of bicycle safety. With cooperation of public school officials and the traffic section of the police department, youngsters were put through a five-phase course to test their ability to handle their bicycle in traffic and determine if they knew the rules of the road.

Appleton's growth has brought with it a sharp increase of youngsters and a great percentage of them of age to ride bicycles. With warm weather, youngsters head for the streets and sidewalks on bicycles to swimming pools, parks, friends' homes or just to ride.

Motorists have an obligation to drive carefully and guard the lives of these youthful "drivers." Parents have an even greater obligation to themselves and their children to see that the youngsters are competent bicyclists and know the rules of the road.

The blue and white card signifying passing of the test comes hard to some youngsters. But, with it, they gain respect for their two-wheeled carrier and their own abilities.

We applaud those men who give of their time so that our children may live.

Are Republicans a 'Political' Party?

The overflow crowd which turned out for the testimonial dinner to Representative Melvin Laird earlier this week at Wausau spoke more eloquently of the esteem in which the Republican Congressman is held in this state than all the kind words said about him.

Laird is that rare combination of congressman who not only does a fine job of representing his district and its interests but has risen to a leadership position nationally in Congress and in his party. He is also one of the more effective spokesmen for the conservative philosophy as witnessed by his recent editing of the very valuable and informative Conservative Papers.

How badly the country needs eloquent spokesmen for the conservative point of view was illustrated at the Laird dinner where the principal speaker, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., of Ohio, fell into the tired old Republican refrain by accusing President Johnson of "playing politics with a cruel subject" in his war on poverty.

Of course President Johnson is playing politics. That is his principal job. Whatever Mr. Johnson has to offer this country in the way of service will be of no value whatsoever if he cannot be reelected. To criticize him for doing everything in his power to win reelection is plain silly.

Later in his remarks Rep. Taft asserted that "Republicans have many recommendations that would help reduce the problems and attack the causes of poverty." "But," he said, "to try to achieve political ends the Democrats have chosen to deny our desire for constructive and effective legislation. They want poverty politics instead."

This is the crux of the matter. What are those Republican recommendations that are constructive? Mr. Taft did not state them at Wausau. And if they have been stated this editor has missed them.

The problem of the Republicans in the forthcoming campaign in both Wisconsin and in the nation is to formulate positive programs rather than appearing only as the party of opposition, to become a positive rather than a negative force in national affairs.

Crying "politics" at every Democratic proposal serves only to cause voters to wish that the Republicans would become more political.

Reports on Grant's Campaign

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for May 19, 1864.

After eight days of almost continuous fighting, in which Gen. Grant has driven Lee through The Wilderness and from his entrenched position, and through Spotsylvania, both armies are at a stand beyond the road to Richmond.

Lee is calling to his aid troops from all parts of the Confederacy, and men and artillery are going to Grant from Washington. Both generals are moving for the contest which is evident will be hard fought and more bloody than any that has preceded it. The following is the latest news written to Maj. Gen. Dix by Secretary of War E. M. Stanton:

Washington, May 16, 5 p.m., 1864 -- We have dispatches from Grant to 8 o'clock this morning. He states that offensive operations have been necessarily suspended until the roads become passable; that the army is in the best of spirits and feels the fullest confidence of success. The two armies are now concentrated on the main road from Fredericksburg to Richmond.

The operation of Gen. Sherman in yesterday's and today's hard fighting forced Johnson to evacuate Reenah at midnight last night; his forces are in vigorous pursuit.

No dispatches have been received from Butler this day. At latest reports he was still operating against Fort Darling.

White Africa Mobilizing for War Against Black Neighbors

BY RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Representative Writer

South Africa, Angola and Mozambique are run by whites, and the whites intend to keep it that way.

South Africa, a republic, is trying one method and Portugal, which controls Angola and Mozambique, is trying another, but the aim is the same.

Against them are arrayed 30 other nations of Africa, a good share of world opinion, and a powerful troublemaker — the Soviet Union.

To South Africa this means war, and that is what the nation is girding for. The main sociation was officially organized last week with Martin Groth elected president, Kenneth Anderson, vice president, Monroe Manley, secretary, and Earl Kuehler, treasurer.

The rural fire committee at Black Creek organized on a permanent basis at a meeting in the village community hall. The group included Arthur Genske, Harry Heiden, Carl Kreutzman, Louis Knaack, Gust Beyer, Walter Blake, John Reinke, B. A. Rideout, Sanford Barth, Hilbert Witt-huhn and Andrew Fischer. The committee represented the Town of Center, the western half of Town of Cicero, Town and Village of Black Creek.

Miss Lois Boon, freshman student from Appleton at Wells College, Aurora, N.Y., was to play the role of queen in the play "Robin and Marian."

William C. Schauder was elected president of the Clintonville Lions Club, succeeding Fred Gansen. Others elected were Loyal T. Higgins and C. C. Mullarkey, both vice presidents; Edgar Voelz, secretary; Henry Weller, treasurer; Harold Heuer, lion tamer; Frank G. Miller, tall twister; the Rev. F. C. Steubenvoll, song leader; Otto Eberhardt, Reuben Lendved and Ganzen, directors.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, May 15, 1954.

Mrs. Walter Kuehl was elected president of the Mothers and Daughters Circle of Neenah Trinity Lutheran Church. Mrs. Viola Mueller was appointed chairman of the organization's 30th anniversary dinner. Other officers for the year were Mrs. Elmer Reinke, vice president and program chairman, Mrs. Bert Janow, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Zemlock, treasurer. Mrs. Louis Selle was named sunshine chairman.

Dr. I. A. Pearl, Appleton, was general chairman for the philatelic exhibit that weekend to be held in connection with the 23rd annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Stamp Clubs. Exhibit Hall was the Knight of Pythias Hall where 78 valuable collections were to be displayed. Dr. S. F. Darling, Appleton, was convention chairman.

Gary Roou and Patsy Hedburg were to reign as king and queen of the annual Parade on Wheels put on by Neenah's McKinley School. Members of the royal court were to be sixth graders Peter Koerwitz and Carolyn Grygny; fifth graders Tom Stelow and Lynn Rae Anderson; and fourth graders Ross Zimmerman and Susan Wren.

We are all equal; so why

question is how soon will it come?

BORDERS ARE SEALED

South African policy is clearly and forcefully stated. It is to keep the 12 million non-whites separated — physically and geographically — from the 3.2 million whites. This is being done by first sealing the borders — both with neighboring countries and with two black nations lying entirely within South Africa — the British-ruled territories of Basutoland and Swaziland.

Within South Africa, blacks are kept to their own areas, such as the new state of Transkei and the model black city of Soweto, a suburb of Johannesburg. Many more of these enclaves are planned to ensure total separation.

Some say the war has already begun and South Africa is acting like it agrees. Internal security is harsh. Under recent laws persons suspected of subversion may be held 90 days or more without rights and tried under laws leading to the death penalty.

Defense expenditures are rising steadily and this year will approach $300 million. Planes and heavy weapons are being acquired abroad, and the production of small arms is skyrocketing. Every white household is preparing. Housewives hold weekly "pistol parties", mingling tea and target practice. Young girls learn arms-handling and hand-to-hand combat. Regular police and home guards total 50,000 and another 250,000 trained reserves are available for emergency. There has been talk of preparing against radioactive fallout, poison gas and germ warfare.

The Portuguese are trying a different tack. There is no racial segregation in Angola or Mozambique. There the policy is to woo the friendship and support of the natives in keeping out "infiltrators" from nearby African nations. The

How Would You Feel If You Were Negro?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The other night while I was reading through the People's Forum, I came upon an article written on the idea of Civil Rights. It stated, "Negroes will be coming into Appleton and looking for employment, but if they can't find employment they might move to some other place." From this statement I concluded that if employers wouldn't hire them, everything would be all right. I entirely disagree with this philosophy.

How would anyone of us feel if we were a Negro and rejected time after time, told that you couldn't find employment and in a round about way that you are not welcome and should move on and not come back. Everyone knows of our uncivilized treatment toward the Negro, our brethren. Everyone tells them to move on. And after there is no place for them left to go what will happen? Will they return to the South peacefully and stay there or will they revolt?

We are all equal; so why

Portuguese reportedly have 40,000 troops in the field, white and blacks serving side by side. Their wounded are treated in the same hospitals, and throughout the territories the races work side by side, often in the same occupations.

BLACKS DECLARE WAR

There is cause for mobilization. A year ago, at the first African summit conference, the leaders of 207 million Africans declared war on South Africa and the Portuguese territories. Most of the new nations are poor and weak, but they have a strong friend, Ahmed Ben Bella, president of Algeria, has just returned from Moscow, where he was made a Hero of the Soviet Union. It was Ben Bella who, a year ago, aroused the African conference to a fever with his call for "a bond of blood with those who are fighting in South Africa, Angola and Mozambique."

When he left Moscow Ben Bella had another $127 million in Soviet credits, promises of "small arms", and the blessings of President Leonid Brezhnev. Brezhnev said Algeria's "revolutionary banner is fluttering proudly over the vastness of Africa as a call to all those who have not yet acquired freedom and must fight for it."

Ben Bella replied that Algeria has been turned into a training camp for those fighting in South Africa, Angola and Mozambique, and is supplying them with weapons.

A "Freedom Radio" is now heard in South Africa. It is thought to be in Ghana, and it broadcasts in English and the tribal languages. Late in 1962 nationalists and communists from many African nations reportedly met secretly in Bechuanaland. They vowed "the immediate liberation of South Africa and the overthrow of the all-white Verwoerd government."

The hour is growing late.

Party Chairman Faces Some Hazards in Bid For Election to Office

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The most pertinent question that was raised when Patrick J. Lucey invited supporters to a news conference to declare his candidacy for lieutenant governor involved the issue of the availability of a party organization manager for a high public office.

Lucey expected the question and came up with an answer. He recited off precedents in neighboring states involving the elevation of Democratic party chairmen and national committeemen. He expected no difficulties in making the transition, he said, and in the circumstances that confronted him, he could scarcely afford to say anything else. Yet he was able to cite no very relevant Wisconsin precedents.

In fact, Mr. Lucey as one of the most effective of the practical politicians this state has produced lately undoubtedly remembers, there have been some examples in Wisconsin politics that show a certain electoral resistance to the idea of putting men whose reputations were built primarily on party work into public place. The Democratic Party's history as an effective force is perhaps too recent to be useful here. But there are numerous examples in the Republican Party, most recently Philip Kuehn, a former Republican state chairman who was turned back twice in a bid for the governorship.

Kuehn was the favorite in the 1952 election in the estimate of virtually all observers, but he lost by some 11,000 votes to Gov. Reynolds in spite of the fact that the rest of the Republican state-house ticket was being elected and his party was making gains in legislative seats.

There are other examples. A useful one was the defeat in the Republican convention in 1950 of Harvey V. Higley, widely known as a party organization leader, by Walter J. Kohler. In earlier Republican Party history such one-time chairmen of the organization as Edward J. Samp and F. L. Gullickson, to name two, had similar experiences.

There Are Good Reasons For Omitting Your Name

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I hope the Post-Crescent will continue its policy of printing worthwhile letters, with or without signatures. The editor is qualified, by reason of his training and experience, to distinguish between an honest letter and a crank letter or a vindictive letter.

It is better for the community to know, for example, that a child in school (or anyone else) is opposed to having colored people brought into the community because they might take jobs away from the rest of the people (or because of some other reason). Fear, rather than shame, is a more likely reason for a person not to sign his name to a letter. Fear that he might be censured, or made to feel ashamed, by his school, church, friends or family for ideas which he believes are right. It is sad that such fear exists, but it does; so let's keep the newspaper, at least, free. You cannot cure a disease if you do not even know that it exists.

Suppression of ideas can lead to a false sense of security. The recent election in Wisconsin in which Governor Wallace received almost one-third of the Democratic votes proves this. I wonder what percentage of votes Governor Wallace would have received if each voter had had to sign

The hazard faced by the party machine leader in asking for elevation to public place is that his image is that of the complete and professional politician. Frequently also he has been required to perform in his party office in such a way as to cause more resentment among the voters of the rival party than does the candidate for public office in a normal situation. As somebody once said, "Lucey the other day, as Democratic state chairman he frequently uttered out of his own mouth the charges and the taunts that men on his ticket hesitated to say on their own account."

THE BOSS

Lucey's build-up as a party "boss" has been effective, in part through the reputation he has made in his own party, in part by the hostile publicity inspired by the Republican foe. Even as have some of the more effective Republican chairmen of the past, Lucey has not been especially disappointed by the tag, moreover, and has chosen to regard it as a kind of unwilling testimonial to his political acumen and prowess.

The consensus, therefore, is likely to be that Lucey would be in better position to bid for votes if he had attained prominence without identity as a manager and professional politician.

Measured against that potential risk, however, are positive factors of the kind infrequently represented in lesser candidates on a party ticket and especially the Democratic ticket — including a rich experience in political method, a superb self-confidence, a personal relationship with hundreds of local politicians that perhaps only one or two other Democrats can match, and a driving ambition that is the hallmark of the successful candidate today.

Lucey was a part of the magnificent Kennedy campaign machine of 1960 and its lessons were learned well. It is perhaps redundant to observe that it is rare that a man aspires to the office of lieutenant governorship for its own sake. Quite clearly, the Lucey bid is the start of a new phase of his career that is intended to culminate in the governorship at a future time.

his name to his ballot, and the results made public.

Suppression can also lead to the use of false names. I remember one such incident in the Post-Crescent a year or two ago. I think it is of value to a community to know if a letter comes from a city or rural area; but even the editor doesn't have to sign his name to his editorials.

I do not think that anyone would bother to sit down and write something that he is ashamed of, much less mail it. How many people, out of the large circulation that the Post-Crescent enjoys, have ever bothered to write a letter to the editor? Most people are concerned only with their own private lives, and with having fun. How often hasn't someone said to you during a discussion, "Why worry about it?"

Occasionally someone will say, "Why don't you write that to the editor? You can put it down on paper so much better than I can." In that case the writer may also ask that his name be omitted, since the ideas are not wholly his own.

In my case it is just that it embarrasses my husband to see his name, or mine, in the paper; and since 20 years ago I promised to love, honor and obey — what can I do? I'm being suppressed!

President to Speak

K-C Schedules Dinner To Honor Life Members

NEENAH — John R. Kimberly, president of Kimberly-Clark Corp., will be speaker at the 1964 dinner gathering of the company's general offices' life members Monday noon at the Marketing Center.

New life members to be introduced during the program include Theodore R. Anderson, Joseph C. Bart, William A. Grossen, Clarence A. Krull, George P. McGuire, Howard B. Palmer, Fred J. Popp Sr. and John Simonich, main office; D.

C. Beaulieu, Harold K. Markstrom and Richard K. Neller, research and development; Byron S. Clark and Peter E. Giovannini, staff engineering; George E. Darden, Edward L. Dennis, Bernard E. Hopper, Thomas A. Keller and Ira V. Snyder, sales; Carl J. Hermans, Samuel M. McDonnell, Emil H. Rehfeldt, and Carl A. Swanson, field service.

Highlighting the social hour which begins at 11 a.m. Monday will be a showing of some of the hobbies of life members. Alvina Ahl will display a few articles from her collection of antique pitchers; Byron Clark, flowers from his greenhouse; Al Gross, paintings and how to plan a trip; Harold Heller, astronomy; Jim Pardee, camping, and Connie Riggles, model house building. This is the first year such a hobby show has been part of the life member gathering and it is hoped that more hobbies will be displayed next year.

Master of Ceremonies
Robert J. Crikelair, comptroller of Kimberly-Clark, will be the emcee at the program and Leigh Wolfe, life member from main office, will give the invocation. Entertainment will be presented by the River City Four: William Dunwiddie, James Johnson, Gavin Young and Ned Rightor.

The general offices' life member group, which includes representatives of main office, sales, research and development, field service, and staff engineering, now has 153 members. Five life members, Chester Bell, Ruby Hanson and Edward Young of main office, Hans John and Glen Swick of research and development, died since the last club meeting.

Aeronautics Agency Refuses to Endorse Federal Aid Request

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Aeronautics Commission for the second time has declined to endorse the application of Brown County for federal aid funds to finance the enlargement of the instrument runway at Austin Straubel Field from 5,200 to 7,000 feet.

But after a two-hour wrangle here Friday with members of the Brown County Board aviation committee, the state officials said they will order a hearing to be held in Green Bay during the next 30 days to document a case which they claim the county has not yet proved.

The issue is the county's desire to provide landing and take-off facilities for jet airplanes, and the state agency's expressed doubt that the county officials have collected data sufficient to prove that jet traffic is actually or potentially in prospect.

Report Turned Down

The Federal Aviation Agency last week turned down the county's first request for federal aid financing. The appeal to the state agency for support was candidly explained here as an effort to bolster its arguments for a renewed petition to the federal department.

The local officials indicated that the county board may decide to proceed with the runway extension project on its own resources, without federal or state backing.

The officials said they were concerned about providing facilities for general aviation Brown County aid request for service, including charted flights which have been diverted

Don't Pick Those Pretty Wild Flowers

BY CHARLES MOORE
Appleton Staff Writer

"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen..." That's what Thomas Gray wrote in his "Elegy" and it was a soft truism then as it is now. But today, 164 years after the appearance of his epic poem, the truth is not so exact. The world is crowded now, and many of the people who crowd it never see a wild flower.

Many others see them — and pick them. It is not always proper and not always legal to do so. Because some wild flowers, once plucked, can never come back there is a great need for conserving the ones we have. And, alas, many of them are in scant supply.

Trilliums once grew plentifully in Appleton's disappearing woodlands, but the pretty three-petaled flower has been all but wiped out by people who love flowers and by children who love to pick them.

Randall's Woods in northeast Appleton near Memorial Hospital and Glenwood Acres was once blanketed with trilliums but neighboring children innocently gather them with the result that each year they come closer to extinction here.

It is unfortunate that the attraction of the wild flowers is precisely what draws people to pick them. And when trilliums are plucked they are virtually destroyed not only for the year but forever. They cannot easily "come back."

Perhaps it is best to help children learn to enjoy the wild flowers where they are; they are prettier there, and they come back year after year for other children to enjoy.

Die So Soon

Plucked trilliums die in the vase all too soon; and they are usually dead before they reach a vase. It is really better, in crowded areas, to enjoy them in the wild. Furthermore, they are protected by law. The fine is $100 or 30 days in the county jail.

Would you like to see how pretty a blanket of trilliums can be when they carpet a field? On highway 45 just north of Heronville and en route to New London, there is an undulating limestone hill which is covered with trilliums. They are easily seen (on the left side) of the road. But don't pick!

In addition to trilliums, here are the plants protected by law: American lotus (the water lily), trailing arbutus, or any species of lady's slipper or any member of the orchid family or trillium or American bittersweet or any pitcher plants (turk's caps) or any wood lilies.

Fine or Jail

In each case, except that of the American lotus, the fine is $100 or 30 days in the county jail. In the case of the lotus, the fine is $100 or six months in jail.

The picking of unprotected wild flowers really should be done judiciously. The agricultural extension service suggests that the old Indian rule should pertain. Sensibly, it bears four rules:

1. Take only as much as you need.
2. Always leave a seed stick.
3. Do not destroy the whole to obtain a part.
4. Observe the rights of another's grounds.

Class Speakers Selected for KHS Graduation

KAUKAUNA — Thomas Kiffe and Sharon Channess were elected speakers for the June 4 commencement exercises at Kaukauna High School.

The pair was chosen by senior classmates after students in the top 10 per cent of the class were listed eligible. The students will select their own topics and work with Francis De Bruin and Miss Mildred Feller, instructors, on their speeches.

Construction Program Okayed for Volk Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has authorized a $1.5 million construction program for Volk Field, the Air National Guard Base near Camp McCoy, Wis., Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Friday.

Plans call for aircraft shelters, a composite maintenance shop, an ammunition storage facility and alterations to the dining hall and dormitory, Proxmire said.

The Long Range planning committee of Appleton Memorial Hospital received a comprehensive plan for expansion from representatives of E. Todd Wheeler and the Perkins and Will partnership, Chicago, architects and hospital consultants. From left, seated, are Charles Seaborne Sr., committee member; Dr. Harry Lewis, co-chairman, and Mrs. William Buchanan, committee chairman, and standing, Norman Millett and E. Todd Wheeler, Chicago, architects, and Stuart Koch, committee member. The committee will study the report for about a month and submit it to the hospital board with recommendations. Veteran Kaukauna Teacher Ends 43-Year School Career

Stanley Beguhn Will Continue As Part-Time Text Librarian

KAUKAUNA — The senior teacher on the faculty of Kaukauna High School, Stanley Beguhn, will resign his teaching duties at the end of the year after 43 years in the Kaukauna system.

Although retiring from teaching, he still desires to keep abreast of things going on at school and in line with his wishes, the board of education has agreed to let him work part-time as text book librarian, work he has also been doing the past few years.

Beguhn, native of Menominee, came to Kaukauna in 1921 after graduating from what was then known as Stout Institute. His field was industrial arts and Beguhn recalls his initial years when the high school was at Park School and he taught sixth, seventh and eighth grades in addition to high school classes.

Shared Time

Students from the two Catholic Schools and the Lutheran School also came for industrial arts in the public school system, recalls Beguhn, as he noted, "shared time goes back much farther than people realize." He taught four high school classes in the morning and two grade school classes in the afternoon.

He had to hike to Nicolet School on the southside to teach some classes because grades six through eight also were at that school. He recalls an enrollment of 185 in high school when he began teaching. Today the enrollment has reached 1,250.

Taught Fathers

He recalls teaching the fathers of most of his students today. When asked if he enjoyed teaching, he noted, "I must or I wouldn't have stayed this long." He had opportunities to move into industry after doing summer drafting work in area mills, but always preferred to return to his teaching duties.

"I never appreciated the hours and schedules required by workers in industry," said Beguhn. "When old grads return they always remember me, but although I remember names, it is difficult to connect them with faces after these many years," said the teacher. He estimates he has instructed nearly 7,000 students in industrial arts.

Little change has been made in instruction in industrial arts drawing through the years, but changes in construction methods has forced teachers to change teaching patterns, said Beguhn. He noted particularly changes in the mechanical and architectural fields.

Pride in Students

He points with pride to many of the former students who have gone out to make names for themselves, but prefers not to single out individuals in the fear he may overlook one and offend someone.

His early teaching included drafting, woodworking, sheet metal, cabinet making and auto mechanics. For the past 10 years his teaching has been limited to drafting. He also served as vocational school teacher for a time.

His real love at school is basketball, a sport he formerly coached. In 1940 he organized the Kaukauna Athletic Association Basketball tournament, an event still staged each year, to raise funds for the school athletic program. Prior to this he organized and promoted tournaments on his own at Little Chute and Kimberly.

Receives Award

Beguhn was honored by the Kaukauna High School Alumni Association in 1961 when he received the Alumni Award for outstanding contributions in the field of education. The experience in the youth attending high school 43 years ago with those of today. But, years ago he said, a student did not have to attend high school, so those enrolled were there to learn.

Today's requirement for all to receive a high school education sometimes results in students who have no interest in furthering their education, and consequently accomplish little, said the teacher.

After retirement Beguhn plans to follow his hobbies of fishing, floral gardening and visiting his daughter in Naperville, Ill. He and his wife also intend to do a little traveling.

Case Study of Industry Slated for Paper Men

Top Executives Taking Part in Program At Institute June 18-20; First of Its Type

NEENAH — Many of the Wisconsin paper industry's top executives will take part in an unprecedented program at the Institute of Paper Chemistry on paper manufacturing for college educators June 18-20.

The project is entitled "Case Study of an Industry." It is sponsored by the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, Neenah, an association of 26 major state pulp and paper manufacturers, and consists of a three-day series of field trips, lectures and seminars staffed by industry officials.

Representative of 25 state colleges and universities have registered for the study.

Special Talks

Special talks will be given by C. M. Green, president, Mosinee Paper Mills Co., Mosinee, the general chairman of the Information Service; Stanton W. Mead, president, Consolidated Papers Inc., Wisconsin Rapids; Charles L. Dostal, president, Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, and President John Strange and Dean Roy Whitney of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Appleton.

Moderators for a series of panel discussions on various subject areas are Guy E. McCollum, chairman of the board, Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna; Harry C. Moore, president, Beloit Corp., Beloit; M. J. Auchter, vice president, Chasman Paper Products Co., Green Bay, and John E. Spalding, vice president, Neenosa-Edwards Paper Co., Port Edwards.

Other Participants

Other Appleton and Neenah-Menasha participants include Arnold Grummer of the Institute staff; Arthur Van Vliessen, Sulphite Pulp Manufacturers Research League, Appleton; Richard Billings, Kimberly-Clark Corporation; Carl R. Geisler, vice president, administrative services, Marathon Division of American Can Co.; G. K. Crowell, executive vice president, Kimberly-Clark Corp.; Arthur Hedlund, vice president and treasurer, Bergstrom Paper Co.; Donald A. Snyder, vice president and general manager, Marathon Division of American Can Co.; Fred Leech, president, Universal Paper Corp.; Paul Truttschel, vice president, sales, Appleton Coated Paper Co.; and Foster Doane, vice president, manufacturing, Bergstrom Paper Co.

More than a score paper officials are on the program. Only out-of-state executive participating is Newell Rumpf, president, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, who has been closely identified with Wisconsin paper industry expansion. He will appear on a financial panel scheduled for the Mead Inn, Wisconsin Rapids, at 1 p.m., June 19.

This is believed to be the first such project in the country—at least on an industry-wide basis. The industry hopes to be able to offer it to state schools on a yearly basis hereafter.

AVS Board Won't Recognize Teacher Welfare Committee

Director Given Permission to Continue Meeting With Group

The Appleton Vocational School board decided formal recognition of proposed teachers' welfare committee Thursday but okayed having the school director continue to meet with representatives of the teachers to discuss school problems and policies.

Board members feared that formal recognition of the committee would commit the board to meet with it to discuss school matters, and might bypass the authority of the director.

AVS Director Carl Bertram told the board the vocational school faculty has not been satisfied with the representation the Appleton Education Association has given them in employment relations with the board, and felt better liaison would be possible if they organized their own committee.

Seek Recognition

(The AEA welfare committee meets with the Appleton Board of Education to discuss salary proposals, fringe benefits and other matters, but has not met with the Board of Vocational and Adult Education.)

The teachers' request that the board recognize the welfare committee was presented at the last meeting. The board asked Bertram to meet with them and discuss the proposal.

Bertram said teachers were not contemplating this committee as a legal bargaining committee. They are interested in discussing such matters as contract provisions and the school calendar, he said. In the past he has met with the entire faculty.

Committee members are Elmer E. Miller, Paul A. Gehrig, Francis M. Ankerson and Roger M. Wege.

Questions Effects

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz, a member of the vocational school board, asked what effect there would be on the vocational school board of the AEA should ask the board of education to recognize it as a bargaining agent for salary negotiation, as is now permitted by state law.

Board members said a separate request would have to be made to the vocational school board and the board would have to determine whether its teachers wanted this representation.

Most vocational school teachers are AEA members, Bertram said.

Church School Staff Named

First English Parish Course Will Run From June 8-19

Vacation church school preparations are being completed at First English Lutheran Church. Student Pastor David L. Anderson announced the staff is complete, with teachers, helpers, playground leaders, music leaders, refreshment servers and drivers.

The topic this year is "Trust And Obey," a series on the Ten Commandments. The course will run from June 8-19. Individual sessions will run from 8:30 to 11:15 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Preparation sessions have begun for teachers and their helpers. In these sessions materials are distributed and problems are discussed.

Teaching in the nursery will be Mrs. Richard Cate; kindergarten, Mrs. Lauren Hillquist; Mrs. Gerald Herrmann; Mrs. Robert Bues and Mrs. Bruce Burghardt. Teachers for the primary department are Mrs. Fred Clark, Mrs. Darrell Bowman, Mrs. Dale Erickson, Mrs. Ronald Amundson, Mrs. Willis Johnson and Mrs. Dennis Struck; and junior department, Mrs. Bartley Munson, Mrs. Douglas Knutson, Mrs. Everett Buckard and Mrs. Leroy Ziesemer Intermediate department Mrs. Rudolph Larson is the teacher.

The school is open to all interested students, whether or not they belong to the church.

The beginning classes are for 3-year-olds. The oldest students are those who have just completed the seventh grade.

Churches Set Confirmation

Services Will be Conducted for Parish Children on Sunday

Three Appleton Lutheran churches will hold confirmation services for their children Sunday.

Seventeen children in Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church's confirmation class will be confirmed at the 10:30 a.m. service Sunday. The senior choir will take part in the service. The confirmation class hymn is "Thine Forever God of Love." The Rev. Lyle J. Koenig is pastor.

Fourteen young people will be confirmed in the second service at 10:15 a.m. Sunday. In Riverview Evangelical Lutheran Church The Rev. F. E. Thierfelder is pastor.

Thirty-one members of the children's confirmation instruction class at Faith Lutheran Church will be confirmed in a special service at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. The confirmation service, formerly held in the regular morning service, has been shifted to the early afternoon to provide more seating for relatives and friends. The Rev. H. E. Simon is pastor.

The confirmation candidates participated in the traditional examination service Thursday. The junior choir will sing "Come, Ye Children" and "Joyfully We Do Adore Thee" for the confirmation service.

The Lutheran rite of confirmation gives each candidate an opportunity to publicly declare loyalty to Christ and the teachings of the church, and thereby qualifies him for participation in holy communion. Faith confirmands will receive their first communion in the 10:30 a.m. service May 24.

Founding to Be Observed

Special Services Sunday at English Lutheran Church

Members of First English Lutheran Church will commemorate the 48th anniversary of the incorporation of the congregation, the 32nd anniversary of the dedication of the church building and the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the educational building, at both the 8 and 10:45 a.m. church services Sunday.

Reading a historical summary of the beginning days of the congregation will be Charter member Harry Ballard at the 10:45 a.m. worship and one of the first members after the charter days, Gilbert Beglinger, at the 8 a.m. worship.

May 13, 1916, was the incorporation date of the congregation. The first official meeting of the group which became the congregation was Feb. 5, 1914, in the armory, beginning with a period of worship and followed by organizational plans.

Mission Formed

On May 19, 1912, a group was formed at Zion Lutheran Church, which was named "First English Lutheran Mission" and functioned as part of that congregation, before becoming the Air War College, Manpower Management training, command and staff.

He has held seven posts as commander including an Air Force mission to Venezuela; international Airport, and Presque Isle AFB, Maine, a divisional command in Europe; and sector commands at Hancock Field, N.Y.; Stewart AFB, New York, and now at Truxa. During
